The brides looked charming in their gowns of white point d'esprit, with veils arranged in cap style, and caught by bands of orange blossoms. They carried pink roses. Myrtle Selina entered the church on the arm of her father, Mr. E. O. Lysne, of Alliance.

The bridesmaids, Miss Hazel Nelson, of Edmonton, and Miss Agnes Lysne, were dressed in white French organdie with touches of pink and blue taffeta, and wore white moiré picture hats. Miss Nelson

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful, falls in love with Peter Anson, fellow student in an art school. She is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family, and he is a poor, struggling sculptor. On their first date Peter spends most of his money to show Camilla a good time, and then decides he must give her up because he cannot stand the financial pressure. A chance meeting, however, proves the way for another date. This time they walk in the park.

(Now Go On With The Story.)

CHAPTER VII

"You think I am going to art school for the novelty of having something to do," Camilla began, as they walked through the park, "and that I haven't a serious thought in my head. You think I am a girl with a fortune and not an idea of earning a penny of my own. That's the girl you think I am. But you're wrong. My classes at Nationals are only a part of my training to become a commercial artist. That means I want to work, and have to work. I'm not dabbling with art for a pastime, as you have been thinking. What's more, I'm not even planning for a distant future with the possibility of success as a famous artist who creates beautiful and lasting things. I intend to commercialize whatever talent I have just as soon as possible. Covers for magazines that will be glanced at and tossed aside, illustrations for stories that will be read and forgotten, fashions that are whims for a day, glaring advertisements for long-lived tooth paste and whatnot. In fact, I'll do anything I have a chance to try. Now you know." She stopped abruptly and the soft silence of the night closed in about them isolating them.

Finally Peter said, "Know what? I'm glad to know that you are ambitious to do something of yourself, and all that, but what's the good of it to do with—with my forgetting you and your being blue?"

"Because I'm just a poor little rich girl who has to earn my own living after the first of September, next."

Peter was puzzled. "But you are the Hoyt girl, aren't you? I supposed you were only dabbling in art for amusement. Are you really serious?"

"Just as serious as my situation. I really am a little frightened, Mr. Anson—about earning my living, I mean. Sometimes I get to wondering how I could be of any service that would be worth money to people."

"But your fortune—"

"I have no fortune. And my name is not Hoyt, really."

He shook his head in bewilderment. "I'm still floundering."

RHEUMATISM GOT HIM

80-years-old Pianist is Relieved by Kruschen

Although old age has not yet kept this man from his occupation as a pianist, rheumatism did threaten to do so recently.

"Two years ago," he writes, "I was suddenly taken with rheumatism, all down my left arm. I tried many things—all to no purpose. I then commenced taking a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts every morning, and soon felt better. My arm, which was painful and nearly useless, to my astonishment is now, after a few weeks' treatment, as good as new."

More than pleased, as I am a pianist, and playing made matters worse. I am just entering my 80th year, and am in good health."

The six mineral salts of Kruschen have a direct effect upon the blood stream, nerves and muscles, which is the recognized cause of rheumatism. They also restore the eliminating organs to proper working order, and so prevent constipation, thereby checking the further formation of uric acid and other body poisons which undermine the health.

W. N. U. 1010

"I don't mind telling you all about it, if you still care to listen."

"I'm very anxious to know."

Camilla turned on the bench facing him, and began earnestly, like a child reciting a story. "To begin at the beginning, I am one of a family of nine children—the middle one. My real name is Lorenz. But I didn't know that until three years ago, when I had been riding in the clouds for fourteen years and suddenly had to come down to earth in a parachute. I almost got tangled up in the strings and things, but I finally landed feet first and looked around to see where I was. It wasn't such a beautiful place as I had felt, either."

"But how did you get up in the clouds in the first place?" Peter interrupted, amused with her quaint metaphor.

"Oh yes, I'm getting ahead of my story. I went up when I was four years old. It was this way. My people had come to America before I was born, and they hadn't done so well here at that time, it seems. Anyway, once when I was four years old, a volunteer social relief worker came to our house to tell mother how to put more water in the soup kettle so that she could feed nine mouths with half rations. Of course, my mother having lived in southern Europe, where many of the people are on half rations most of the time, and the wealthy Mrs. Hoyt never having known how soup was made—she could do that. Anyway, it seems that I was quite a pretty child—in fact, a beautiful child—"

"I don't doubt that," he interrupted again.

Camilla dismissed that with a gesture of impatience. "—and the rich lady who had no children of her own was so captivated by me that she came to see us again and wanted to take me home. The attraction was mutual. I liked the grand lady and wanted to go home with her. When she suggested it, my parents objected at first, but she finally persuaded them to agree. It was my mother who did the objecting, it being my father's policy that there were plenty more where I came from and he already had more mouths than he could feed, anyway. Mrs. Hoyt was to adopt me until I became of age. She promised to do everything for me that money could do: private schools, social advantages, travel and special education. I would be her daughter until I was twenty-one. Then I should decide for myself what I wished to do. But I would not be an heir to the Hoyt estate."

"But why not?" asked Peter. "Adopted children usually inherit estates from foster parents, especially if they have no direct heirs."

Camilla gestured with the eloquence of her Latin heritage. "Don't ask me riddles. Why does a fish swim? Who knows? This was some whim of an idea, no doubt. Perhaps they feared I should waste my inheritance on my large family, or they would take it away from me. As I said, I rose in the clouds for years. You can imagine what it was like for me—governments, imported frocks, constant attention, people telling me how pretty I was, and all the rest. When I was eighteen, I made my debut. Soon afterward, I learned the facts. Naturally, it was a shock. Then I realized that my foster mother was ambitious for me to marry wealth, which would solve my problem very nicely. Prospects were offered to me continually, always with the deceitful ruse that I was the Hoyt heiress, to double the attraction. Foreign titles, industrial fortunes, social leaders. I dispensed it all. At first, I announced that I would leave them and be independent. But I learned that it was legally arranged for me to live as Camilla Hoyt until I was twenty-one. So I decided to make the best of it by training myself, while I had the chance, to make my living after I was dismissed from my adoption. Of course, I had to defy their wishes, by studying to be self-supporting instead of angling to be the mistress of a fortune. That's why I have the blues," she concluded suddenly. "I'm sorry I troubled you. I don't know why I should tell you, Mr. Anson—"

"I do," he declared vehemently. "Because I've been wanting terribly to know you ever since the first time I saw you—but I didn't dare to presume to a friendship with Miss Hoyt. I can be a friend to Camilla Lorenz."

"Why do you say that?" she asked with surprise.

"Because I am only Peter Anson, struggling for my degrees and possibly by a scholarship with a year in Paris, and not a dollar in the world to back me."

A little groan of horror escaped her. "And I let you spend all that money on me the other night!" her voice almost sobbed.

He laughed shortly. "That was rather a strain. But I'll manage," cheerfully. "Did you think I was heir to J. P. Morgan?"

"I didn't know," with consternation. "You see I really haven't much sense yet about money—in that way. And you impressed me so with your importance. I didn't care a thing about the show and the Maddox Club, but I thought if I didn't suggest the swankiest places in town, you would laugh at me. I don't mind if other people laugh at me, but I didn't want you to," her voice was almost a whisper. "If only I had known you for me, ever—Peter—"

"Camilla—why, you darling—you're crying—please don't."

She was in his arms, their faces pressed close, trembling with happiness. "Peter—I'm crying because—I'm so happy—to be here with you," she whispered. "The blues are all gone for always."

Freighter Again In Service

German Boat Was Sunk By Russians During War

After spending eight years on the bottom of the Baltic Sea and still usable the same engines and boilers that were put into her at Hamburg 51 years ago, the "Leonore," a German freighter registered at 922 tons, shows the big boats "how it's done." The little freighter sailed from Montreal recently on her way to Holland from Chicago. She had carried a cargo from a Baltic port to Green Bay, on Lake Michigan, thus gaining the distinction of being the first ship in 22 years to make the run from a European port to Chicago.

The "Leonore" has had many adventures, but the most serious one came during the war when she was docked in the port of Libau, now owned by Lithuania. It was in 1916 and the Russians had decided to block the entrance of the harbor by sinking a number of ships. Of the 40 ships sent to the bottom as a protection against German subs, the "Leonore" was one, and there she lay for eight long years until in 1924 it was decided to clear the harbor and the sunken vessels were refloated.

Tenth Vacancy In Senate

Ten Vacant Seats In Upper House Will Have To Be Filled

The death of Senator G. D. Robertson created the tenth vacancy in the Upper House.

Of this number, three are in Ontario, two in Saskatchewan, two in Quebec, two in New Brunswick and one in Nova Scotia. The present standing of the parties in the senate, inclusive of the 10 vacancies which will have to be filled, are 46 for the government and 40 for the Liberals.

"Repatriciated Celery"

The experiment by which Canadian-grown celery plants were matured in Bermuda and brought back to Canada in Canadian National ships for the spring market, has been successful. Some marketeers have called the product "repatriciated celery." Bermuda and the British West Indies have come to be known as Canada's winter garden and tropical fruitland.

Canada imported nearly 3,000,000 pounds of peanuts from the United States between January 1 to August 1.

More than 19,925,000,000 cigarettes were made in China in the first half of 1932.

Grasshopper Infestation

Vast Acreage In Saskatchewan and Manitoba Faced With Outbreak

Next Year More than 16,000,000 acres of Saskatchewan grain growing areas are faced with a serious grasshopper infestation for 1934, and the provincial government is inaugurating an educational preventive campaign to combat the menace. The 16,000,000 acres represent practically half the entire area of the province under cultivation.

Manitoba is faced with an egg infestation covering two and a half million acres, which is deemed serious, but the prospects facing Saskatchewan for 1934 are much worse, Hon. W. C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture, stated.

The Dominion entomological branch of the Department of Agriculture is making a survey of the province with a view to having detailed statistics covering all infested areas as a means of meeting the situation.

Pays In Protection

Well-Equipped Fire Department Is Not An Expense

There are those who complain about the expense of maintaining adequate fire-fighting equipment and who quibble over outlays to keep such equipment up-to-date. A modern and well-equipped fire department pays for itself many times over, however, in the protection that is afforded inhabitants and in the prompt means of dealing with insipient outbreaks capable of developing into a catastrophe which the community thus commands.

WITHIN THE DREAM

In truth, I know I cannot mold Life's ways to my desire; But could you know the hopes I hold, My vision's flower and fire!

Could you but glimpse the loveliness Which is my goal and guide, Like mine and those of April's dress, Like sunset on the tide;

You, too, would then forget the care, The burden of the day, Could you in this rich dower share Of glory's hidden way!

The world, perhaps, must laugh at me, The dreamer passing by, With spirit drenched in ecstasy And rapt, unseeing eye.

But though I know I cannot mold Earth's ways to my desire, I dwell within the dream I hold, My vision's flower and fire!

Zoo Animals On Air

A monkey, a cockatoo, a boa constrictor, an alligator, a python, a mynah (a kind of starling from India) and a toucan recently appeared before a B.C. microphone and television projector to give a broadcast.

Leonard Henry, the cockatoo, was the oldest—he is over 60 and the most talkative of this Zoo variety company.

It is true that around the world English is rapidly becoming in effect a universal language. Oddly enough it is a language of business, while French remains the universal tongue of scholars and diplomats.

In Italy silk is now used for the covering of sausages. What is used for the inside remains as ever a mystery.

Little Helps For This Week

"They go from strength to strength."—Psalm 74:7.

"First the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear."—Mark 4:28.

Build thee more stately mansions oh my soul, As the swift seasons roll: Leave thy low-vaulted past; Let each new temple nobler than the last

Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast, Till thou at length art free, Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea.

—O. W. Holmes.

High hearts are not long without hearing some new call, some distant calling of God, even in their dreams, and soon they are observed to break up their camp of ease and start on some new fresh march of faithful service. And looking higher still we find those who never wait until their moral work accumulates who do the good only to see the better, and see the better only to achieve it, who are faithful for remorse, too earnest for repose, whose worship is action, and whose action is ceaseless aspiration.

—J. Martineau.

Programme Of Works

Saskatchewan Relief Recipients May Have Opportunity To Work Out Indebtedness

A programme of works sponsored by town and village councils to work out the indebtedness of relief recipients will shortly be proposed by the Saskatchewan Relief Commission according to unofficial information.

If the scheme meets with the approval of the town and village councils, it will provide for the inauguration of individual programmes of works to be started after the harvest, providing for the improvement of streets, beautification of public grounds and other community undertakings of various kinds.

Such a scheme would involve no expenditures on the part of the commission, it is understood, but rather would afford an opportunity for relief recipients working out their present indebtedness to the commission by virtue of 1931 and 1932 advances.

Not To Be Barked At Canada's imports of hot dog skins are not to be barked at. According to the Bureau of Statistics, the Dominion imported $66,923 worth of wiener wrappers during June, an increase of $54,668 over June, 1932. During the 12 months ended in June the total was $121,000, compared with $375,000 in the previous 12 months.

A MESSAGE TO THE ALBERTA GRAIN GROWERS

The Alberta Wheat Pool closed its books on July 15 for the 1932-33 business year. The organization is pleased to state that the volume of business transacted during the year was the largest Pool elevators have ever enjoyed.

The natural conclusion is that the thousands of grain growers who have given their patronage to this grower-controlled co-operative are appreciative of the services rendered and are determined to build up within the boundaries of this Province a strong and aggressive organization on a co-operative basis.

The organization invites and would appreciate during the new crop year a continuation of the patronage so generously extended in the past. Those who have never before utilized Pool elevator facilities are invited to do so with the assurance that careful, courteous and efficient attention will be given to all business entrusted to it.

The welfare of agriculture in Alberta would suggest that all grain growers should be concerned in the up-building of a truly co-operative elevator organization, owned and governed by the welfare of Alberta agriculture.

The dainty little flower girls, Dolores Erickson and Elaine Lysne, wore mauve and green organdie frocks and carried baskets of mauve sweet peas and baby's breath.

Mr. Tyler was supported by Mr. Fred Millican, of Medicine Hat, and Mr. Elford, by Mr. G. Grant, also of Medicine Hat.

The ushers were Mr. A. Erickson and Mr. C. Lysne.

During the signing of the register Mrs. J. Valentine sang "I Love You Truly." Mrs. E. O. Lysne was organist for the occasion.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the basement of the church, where about sixty guests sat down to dainty refreshments. The tables were decorated with pink and white streamers and sweet peas and was centered with the bridal cake. Those assisting in serving were the Misses Jane, Ethel and Inga.

Seeking the big fish he missed catching when he was unable to accompany their Majesties the King and Queen of Slim to Campbell River in September 1931 during their Canadian-American tour, Brig-General E. de B. Ponce, chief of the Canadian Pacific Investigation Department, is on a trip to the waters of the fighting type, one of the prize game fish of British Columbia lakes and streams.

Cultural and educational relations in the Pacific will be stressed at the fifth Biennial Conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations to be held at the Banff Springs Hotel, August 11-28, though economic problems will naturally be to the fore in the discussions, stated Miss Elizabeth Green, editor of the Institute's Journal, on her arrival aboard the Empress of Canada at Vancouver recently en route for Banff.

Sky Line Hiking in the Rockies

Organized trail hiking in the Canadian Rockies will be inaugurated for the coming year by a hike slated to start at Lake Louise on August 4th. An increasing interest is being taken in trail hiking in the Canadian Rockies, and a committee consisting chiefly of experienced members of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies and the Alpine Club of Canada, has undertaken the organization of a new order called the Sky Line Trail Hikers. The inaugural hike will start this summer on August 4th from Lake Louise and tramp over the Saddleback through Paradise Valley and over Sentinel Pass to Moraine Lake, where the first night's camp will be made. On Saturday, August 5th, the party will hike from Moraine Lake over Wenkenema and Opash Passes and will have the thrill of crossing two glaciers before arriving at Lake O'Hara. On Sunday the hikers will be able to take in the magnificent scenery around Lake MacArthur, Lake Oesa, and Mount O'Hara, and members of the party will be able to enjoy the excellent fishing in Lake O'Hara. The Pow-Wow will be held on Monday, August 6th, after which the members will hike to Wapta and catch the evening train back to Lake Louise.

The magnificent scenery of the Canadian Rockies and the pure joy of achievement, together with the comforts assured by the arrangements made by the Canadian Pacific Railway make this one of the finest and most healthful of holiday outings.
